ADDRESS:

JAMES CURRIE, Publisher,

STIRLING, ONT.

All the returns for the census are now in and the statistician and his staff are busy making their preliminary calculation. The result of the census must, by law, be communicated directly to the Parliament. This will be done in the early part of the next week. Then the total population of the Dominion will be known and it is probable that a new census will be taken in 1896.

Both are understood to be satisfactory.

Parliament has made claim for $3,600 against Capt. O'Shea, late during the period of the Boer war.

Some persons are known by the company they keep, and others by the company they decline to keep.

How Tea is Prepared.

Mr. Thos. Conant, who recently made a trip around the world in the new C. P. R. steamer, in a letter to the Globe gives the following account of a visit to Japan.

Most of our people, I found, were very particular for the day, it being only eighteen miles or so, and a return ticket costing only 80 cents. Having been there previously for a week or so I devoted my time to this locality and the tea houses. Just now they are bringing their tea preparatory to sending them to America. To get into a tea house is difficult, especially if they think one has the least knowledge of the business.

Letters of introduction to a prominent firm here made an open house for me and Mrs. Conant, and I think you may be interested, reader, in an account of how tea is prepared.

First the tea comes to the tea buyer at a "tea garden," just like grain to a grain buyer in Ontario, each farmer delivering his tea as ours do the grain.

When these leaves are picked they have no more of a tea taste than a raw coffee bean, but, after roasted, has of coffee. Now, to suppose the tea to be prepared for tea, which some of us insist is the purest of all.

He brushes the leaves and lets the sap exude, and allows it to remain in the sun until it turns black, and that's black tea. Just like cutting open a ripe apple and allowing it to stand a few moments when the incised sides quickly turn brown, so fermentation sets in.

Ordinary tea is not so brewed, or left to stand in the sun, but it is put in an iron vessel over a fire and constantly stirred for an hour. During this stirring a tea-spoonful of soapstone is added to each pound as stirred in the pot, and this is the quantity each person stirs. This is the whole coloring matter used, and we must all be thankful it is not very poisonous. Soapstone has the quality of gluing the leaves together, as they cure over the fire, and it gives it a uniform color.

Basket fired tea are tea heated in a basket with a charcoal fire underneath, but in this case the leaves come direct to the pot and not by radiation through the sides of the pot as in the other instance.

Usually the ordinary fired tea in the pots are the best and purest, as they must be from the very nature of the process of curing them.

Dust tea, which we sometimes see for sale in our groceries, are the fine particles which have been blown off the leaves, and are as good as to quality as any of the tea itself.

In this tea garden I saw 2,000 boys and girls and even mothers with babies as well as men stirring the tea in the pots. They were all happy and all were contentedly going together, and their wages are from nine to fifteen cents a day. Some of them say three miles every morning for the privilege of earning so great wages.

Even the factory printing which we see on the tea boxes is done by native Japs and all done by hand most literally. They cut out their plates and rub the paper over them with a bamboo disk, and the proprietors say that even as slow as this may seem it is the cheapest and most effective way they can get their printing done.

Drunkennes in Germany.

The Emperor William's projected measure for the repression of public drunkenness has become, under the manipulation of the opposition, merely a proposal that the Landtag should increase the penalties imposed on drunkards.

Ministers Herffarth and Mühl, and others concerned in the belief that the public would not tolerate active legislative interference with drinking.

E & CLUTE

WE know it is early for fall and winter suits but there are some who like to buy early and have a better selection. To those we would say we have a portion of our fall stock of Tweeds in. These goods were bought unusually low, and we can give you clothing cheaper than we ever did before. We guarantee first class workmanship and use nothing but the best of trimmings. Look through and get our prices. We like to show goods. If you don't feel like paying for an ordered suit we may have something in ready-made which we are running out at cost.

HOME MATTERS.

The Ontario says halibut as large as hickory nuts fell in Stirling on Friday last. Well, perhaps there might have been a few of that size, but they were scarce, and we have not heard of any damage to gardens, etc.

Mrs. G. H. Conley, J. Jones, and others have been camping at Crow Lake the past week. Mr. Jones succeeded in landing a "lunge" weighing 19 lbs., which is supposed to be the largest caught there this season.

The storm of Tuesday afternoon last gave us the heaviest rainfall of the season so far. The rain came down in torrents about an hour. Fortunately the wind was not very strong, and we have not heard of any damage being done.

Read the ad't. of the Ontario Mutual Life Co. in this issue, and you will find substantial gains in every item worthy of notice, while the interest more than paid all death claims. This is a very satisfactory showing which should attract the attention of all in tending insurers.

A couple of weeks ago we noticed the death of William Green, Michigan, formerly a resident here. Since then we have seen a despatch from Grand Rapids which says:—William Green and Frank Luman were set on Grand River, north of Grand Rapids, while changing their seats in the boat. Luman got ashore, but Green was drowned.

The Prize Lists for the North Hastings Fall Show have been issued, and are ready for distribution. Some changes and additions have been made to the lists, and it is now more complete than before. In addition to the regular list a large number of special prizes have been offered. Interested exhibitors may obtain a copy of the list by dropping a post card to the Secretary, J. A. Day, West Hastings, Ont., and will be held at the Agricultural Grounds, Stirling, on Tuesday, Sept. 29th.

One of the most readable books of the day is one lately issued by John Lovell & Co., Montreal, entitled "Anecdotal Life of Sir John Macdonald." The work is by E. B. Bigger, of Montreal, and was in preparation long before Sir John's death. It is an illustrated life of the great statesman and his public career. The book contains excellent portraits of Sir John and his political life. The work is published at the low price of 50 cents.

Mr. Geo. H. Conley opened his elevator this week for the purpose of buying grain.

W. White, deputy postmaster general, has issued a notice pointing out the necessity of people registering letters and parcels containing money. He urges upon all to demand certificates of registered letters from postmasters. If these instructions are carried out the risk of losing money will be greatly reduced.

Young men in search of a place—"Do you need any work, Mr. Haywood?" "Farmer Haywood—No need?" "Certainly! Pull off your coat and pitch right in!" "How about the—eight hour rule?" "Do you believe in that?" "That's the rule at 4 in the morning and knock off at noon. Then you get again at 4 in the evening, till 8. Right hours at a time is enough for me, I tell you."—Ex.

Constable Scrimshaw of Marmora on Tuesday evening brought to the city two men named George Rogers and Coleman, who were committed to jail charged with stealing a cow. The men stole the cow on Friday last from a man who resides near Welland in Canada. They drove the animal for a long distance into Marmora, where it was found tied to a tree, and the culprit was found near by. They acknowledged that they stole the cow, and were committed by a justice of the peace.—Intelligencer.

Between Saturday night and Sunday morning a valuable horse was stolen out of the field of Mr. Charles Rennie, who resides in Reynolds township near Hards bridge. The thief was a bay colt, 18 hands high. On the road near Mr. Rennie's pasture field was found an old played-out horse with a new harness and collar, and as this horse was unknown in the neighborhood it is thought the thief or thieves have made an exchange, which, however, Mr. Rennie considers was far from the fair exchange which should have been made.

On Friday evening last Dr. Boulter and his newly-wedded wife arrived home by train from Belleville, and were met at the station by a number of their citizens. Joseph Reid, M. A., in a neat speech welcomed the Dr. and his bride, and referred in fitting terms to the many and valuable services Dr. Boulter had rendered the village in times past, and hoped he may long be spared to give the benefit of his services to the citizens. Dr. Boulter replied in a few well chosen remarks, thanking those present for the attention shown him, and hoping still to retain their friendship in the future.

PERSONAL.

Miss B. Henry, of Napawan, is visiting friends and relatives in Stirling.

Mrs. C. Fuller, nee Miss Henry, of Mansfield, Florida, is the guest of Mr. T. H. McKee.

The Misses Webster, of Rochester, spent the week visiting Mr. H. Ferguson's this week.

Miss N. Houston, of Allegheny City, Penn., is staying at Mrs. Wm. Parker's for a short time.

Mrs. Cinnamon, daughter of Mr. James Charles, is home from Rochester on a visit to her parents and friends.

Mrs. J. Jones and H. Bradley, of Norfolk, Ohio, and Bert Bradley, of Toronto, are spending a few days visiting at Mr. G. H. Conley's.

Mr. L. Tuttle, of Hartford, Conn., who was a resident of Stirling some fourteen years ago, was renewing old acquaintances here this week.

Mrs. O. Hewat and T. Sine, of this place, and Mr. E. Smith, of Madoc, left on Tuesday morning to attend the L.O.O.F. Grand Lodge, which is being held in Stratford.

The Cheese Market.

There has been no change in prices during the week, the quotations from Liverpool remaining the same.

Montreal reports state:—The market is moving steadily. Prices are easier, but still the inducement is hardly enough for shippers to buy considering the low prices in England. We quote as follows:—8c. for finest white, and 8c. for finest colored. Extra fine cheeses are selling at 9c.

Springbrook.

The excursion to the Thousand Islands, which started from this point last Saturday on the C.O.R. was well patronized. It would be better to say not very numerous, as, patronized, there being only one from Springbrook station. The party of Springbrook and vicinity having been so badly left on former similar occasions they were probably afraid to take chances again.

There was a second case of diphtheria in Mr. Holden's family at Big Springs. His son aged ten was taken with it last week, but at time of writing he is in a fair way of recovery, under the skillful treatment of Dr. Sargent. The doctor is now establishing a good practice in this usually healthy locality.

"Was It Suicide?"

Why marriage is sometimes a failure is an interesting and important question to all; and everyone, married or single, should read the absorbing story of the tragedy told by the poet-novelist Ellis Wheeler Wilcox, written in that popular author's most forcible style, which is published in the September number of that always bright periodical DEMOCRAT'S FAMILY MAGAZINE. It contains, besides an abundance of other good reading matter, just the sort of an enjoy at this season. There is a splendid article, fully illustrated, about the life of the late Dr. H. H. H. tells about Ellis Wheeler Wilcox, his lovely home, and with it are pictures of the poet's "corner" and portraits of some of her noted guests; whether you are in search of rare sport, mouse hunting, or a "lunge" weighing 19 lbs., which is supposed to be the largest caught there this season.

Dividing the County.

The Madoc Journal continues its agitation for a division of the county, but is evidently more concerned for the growth of Madoc as a county town than for the welfare of the ratepayers of the northern part of the county. In fact the Journal admits that it would not necessarily increase the taxes, but then what is an increase of the taxes to the ratepayers? General, it is a few pounds more to be paid for the same services. Is not Madoc the hub of—well not exactly of the universe, but of the county? It is well to have a good opinion of one's own importance, and of the place he lives in; but it is not wise to be so sure of one's own importance as to be sure of the place he lives in. It is well to have a good opinion of one's own importance, and of the place he lives in; but it is not wise to be so sure of one's own importance as to be sure of the place he lives in.

The following from the Ontario is to the point:—"The North Hastings Review is agitating strongly for a division of Hastings County, and it proposes the town of Madoc as the county town of the new county. This proposal is in the brain of an addle-head. The pretended reason for this division is that the northern parts of the county are assessed too high as compared with the southern parts. This contention is foolish and untrue. The three townships of Madoc, Hastings and Hards bridge are assessed on an equal basis with the other day based their decision on the facts as given before them by representatives of the various municipalities, and undoubtedly the assessment they made was just and fair to all concerned."

What possible benefit would accrue to North Hastings as a result of the division it is difficult to see. In fact there would be no benefit whatever but rather the reverse. If such a division were made, a jail and a court house would have to be erected, as well as a new registry office for a county, the entire salary of a clerk, a treasurer and other officials would have to be paid by the new county, another registrar and sheriff would have to be appointed, whose fees would have to be paid by the people of that district, in fact an immense expense would have to be incurred, to meet which the tax payers of the new county would have to put their hands deep in their pockets. And we say that district anxious to have the tax payers of the new county to meet the expenses of a new county, to have the farmers of North Hastings are anxious to be so.

The division would of course benefit some people. It would benefit a number of business men and property holders in Madoc. Probably we have heard of a scheme of the original of this unreasonable scheme. In fact the Review pretty strongly indicates this when it says "Broom Madoc for a county town." It is one more instance of an attempt to bleed the farmers for the benefit of the other classes. What is to be done? The farmers of North Hastings are anxious to be so.

Hastings County is all right as it is, all of the municipalities are receiving justice as to the proportion of taxes each must pay, and no one of us here do not believe that such a thing as a division of the county.

It is estimated that the Dominion will have 22,000,000 bushels of wheat for export during the next two months must buy 800,000,000 bushels of wheat and rye. In Europe rye is an important staple, and the crop is a bad one, especially in Kansas. The same figure makes it appear that only 250,000,000 bushels of wheat can be supplied by the crop of the world to meet this enormous shortage. If the guess were correct there would be nothing for Europe but starvation.

There is a little doubt, but the farmers of Canada and the United States will be able to lift themselves out of the rut to some extent. Our neighbors reckon that their huge corn crop will be drawn upon by European countries to an extent never before known, and that in addition to this they will export close upon 150,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour as well. Kansas alone is talking of making 100,000,000 out of this year's wheat, corn and hops, but it is evidently an exaggerated figure. The Philadelphia Ledger gives the American farmer some advice which is worth reproducing.

"There is always a great temptation to spend whatever profits come from farming in needless improvements, and this is a good policy when the farmer is spending his money—that is to say, is free from debt. But there is scarcely any business less suited to being carried on in the credit system than farming. Interest goes on accumulating regardless of wind or weather, but the crops are wholly dependent on the chances of a favorable or unfavorable season. A failure may be borne if the farmer is free of debt, but if he is not he must be met or the interest thereon paid. If Kansas has a surplus a very large part of it should be used in paying debt."

For Canada the same rule must be a great deal. It will not only revive the farmer's courage but set business of all kinds into active motion.

and Farmers in this vicinity should see the GALE Sully Harrow and Seeder work before purchasing anything in that line, as all who have used the GALE produce it a grand success. Following are a few of the many testimonials received from Farmers who are now using the Machine.

Markham, May 12, 1891.

Henry Daulton, Esq., Agent American Harrow Co., Windsor, Ont.

DEAR SIR.—In reference to the Gale Harrow and Seeder I bought from you last summer it has given me the best satisfaction of any machine I have ever used. As a Cultivator, Harrow, Seeder, or Sufferer it cannot be excelled by any single machine and its teeth are easily regulated to suit any soil. I would advise every farmer to invest in the Gale. I know many who have them and all are highly pleased with them.

Yours Truly, JOHN MILLER.

DEAR SIR.—I have pleasure in certifying that we purchased a Gale Harrow and Seeder for use on this farm, have tried it thoroughly in various soils and conditions, and are well satisfied with the work it does. Respectfully, JAMES MILLS, West Ont. Agricultural College.

Warkenton, Ont., July 12, 1890.

Gale Sully Harrow & Co., Windsor, Ont. DEAR SIR.—I purchased one of your Sully Harrow and Seeder last August, and have used it to sow 30 acres of fall wheat and about 30 acres of spring wheat. It has given me better or more evenly sown. I have used the machine in all places where I have sown wheat and it gives me the best of satisfaction, and I take much pleasure in recommending the Harrow and Seeder to intending purchasers.

Butter, 15 to 20 bushels per acre. I have sown earlier than in former years. Wishing you every success. Respectfully, WILLIAMSON, Dep. Secy. to the Board of Trade.
